The White Oaks Road.

El Paso completed her subsidy as promised. She made up the full amount in a remarkably short period of time, all things considered, and her subscribers are ready and quite willing to pay every obligation just as soon as the heard of directors announce they have received the first ten miles of road, that it is free from all incumbrances except the bond mortgage which, as yet, has not been issued, and that Merris R. Locke & Co. are going right along with the road. This will be the hope realized and the glorious consummation of all El Paso's aims and purposes in that direction for the future. The White Oaks assured with fifty miles of the road connected and operated El Paso, with all her other important matters accomplished, will be ready for any kind of a boom that may be suggested .- [El Paso Tribune.

Unprecedentedly Heavy Movement of Rock Island engineers with teams, tents extend its line from Liberal to El Puso | las, Texas, early in the spring, but it is rumored here that its line from Liberal to Trinidad ,Coi., where the company owns large tracts of conl lands, will be commenced at the same time. Parties who claim to know say the company will commence to send material here soon after the new year There may be some foundation for this, because all the side tracks here have been lengthened and put in splendid condition. and are now in shape for handling and storing large amounts of material for railroad construction.

A SAD STORY.

The Pitiable Plight of an Insane Young Man at Houston.

Special to the Cazette. Houston, Tex., Dec. 20 - When the California express train reached this city about two o'clock this morning, Thomas Ragan, a young man who occapied a berth in the sleeper, got off the ear in his night clothes and wandered off into the darkness. About five o'clock morning he was found the Fifth ward in a hir purfectly nude condition. He had wandered fully a mile from where he had get off the train, and had crossed a very high railroad bridge in safety. He was taken to the police station where ver-soon his friends come in scarch of him. The story of the young man is a sad one. He left home in Plymouth, Mass., Inst August flushed with the bright hope of youth and buoyant health; but unfortunately his ideas of the world were rather of a romantic character. He went to California, where he found that the visions that had come to him in his far off Mas-

They Decide to Join the Progressive Union-A - Blow to the Knights,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec 20 .- The railroad miners of Western Pennsylvania at a delegation convention representing 9000 miners held here, decided to join the Miners National Progressive Union. Most of the miners were members of the K. of L., and their desertion will be a sad blow to the district assembly, W.T. Lewis, general secretary of the Miners Progressive Union, and Master Workman Roe of the national assembly K. of L. miners, were present in the interests of the organizations, but the sentiments were almost unanimously in favor of the Progressive Union. The question of enforcing the Columbus scale was left to the officers of the national association.

A GIPSY HOODOO.

How an Old Bohemian Hag Made a South Side Woman Pony Up.

A day or two ago an old Gipsy woman appeared at a house on the South Side and announced to the family that she had been specially delegated by some sort of spirit to visit them.

She lighted a pipe and began smoking some sort of stuff, presumably a narcotic, which had a strange influence upon all who were in the room. Presently she said she must speak to the lady of the house alone.

The other members of the family withdrew from the ment and the Gypsy continued to smoke and to expatiate up the special mission upon which should been sent until she so wrought up mind of her auditor as to cau cured this, she departed.

When the South Side lady recovered from the strange spell east over her she began to crave the $17 she had given up. The more she thought of the matter the stronger grew the craving, until she concluded to inform the authorities. This she did, and a deputy sheriff visited the Gipsy camp across the river and casting the spell of the law over the people he found te, drew forth the longed for $17
